Family/Activity

Memory Box Have each member of your family make a memory box. Decorate a shoebox for each family member and help them remember times that God helped them do something. These should be small things and big things. Some examples might be: helped them get well when they were sick, helped them not feel sad after a grandparent died, helped them do well in a recital or on a test. Help them find an object to remind them of the things they think of: the empty prescription bottle from when they were sick, a picture of a grandparent, a program from a recital, or a test paper, etc. Tell your family that remembering the great things that God has done in the past will help them trust Him in the future when hard times come. Make a regular practice of putting new things in the box. Each time you do, pray with your child, thanking God for what He did and for all the things that He has done for him or her in the past.
